Description:

The Conley House/Green Ridge, constructed circa 1910, was previously surveyed by the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission in August 1975. The property has not been altered since the previous survey. There are three extant outbuildings that were not mentioned in the previous survey. The first outbuilding is a stable with a corrugated metal, gable roof. Constructed circa 1920, the stable is of wood frame construction and is located west of the house. The second outbuilding is a stable with a corrugated metal, gable roof. Constructed circa 1920, the stable is of wood frame construction and is located northeast of the house and the first stable. The third outbuilding is a storage shed with an asphalt shingle, gambrel roof. Constructed circa 1980, it is of wood frame construction and is located west of the house, northeast of the first stable and southwest of the second stable.

National Register Evaluation:

The Conley House/Green Ridge, constructed circa 1910, was determined eligible for the National Register of Historic Places as a component of the US 29 study conducted by the State Highway Administration. The property is eligible under Criterion C, as a representative example of an early twentieth century Classical Revival house. The property has not been significantly altered and it retains character defining features of the style, such as a 2-story, pedimented portico and a Palladian-style front door. The period of significance for the property extends from circa 1910 to 1946. The property is not eligible under Criterion A, as research conducted indicates no association with any historic events or trends significant in the development of national, state or local history. Historic research indicates that the property has no association with persons who have made specific contributions to history, and therefore, it does not meet Criterion B. Finally, it has no known potential to yield important information, and therefore, does not meet Criterion D.

Verbal boundary description and justification:

The National Register boundaries of the Conley House/Green Ridge follow the current property lines of 12500 Old Columbia Pike (Tax Map KQ123, Parcel P355). This 3.32 hectare (8.2 acre) parcel is bounded on three sides by adjacent tax parcels, and on the east by Old Columbia Pike. Structures within the boundary which contribute to the significance of the property include the main house and two stables. One non-contributing structure, a storage shed, is located within the proposed boundary. According to research, the original property contained approximately 245 hectares (600 acres), which has been reduced over time to 3.32 hectares (8.2 acres). The current parcel retains the rural character of the property, with more recent development not visible due to vegetation obstruction and natural topography.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This is a handsome, Classical Revival home of ca. 1910. The original Conley house on this site burned and this is a replacement, although some older farm buildings remain. This is a large, two-story, frame house that faces east. The main (east) facade is of five bays, and an imposing, two-story, pedimented portico covers the three center bays. The center door has a Palladian-style arrangement of fanlight, sidelights, and moldings. There are two dormers on the slate roof that sit on either side of the pediment. Large brick chimneys sit on the exterior north and south walls. Siding is clapboard. Some old barns across the street burned ca. 1970. The old springhouse, etc., remain on the property.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Architecturally, this house is unique to the area. Historically, it has been the continuous home of the Conley family since the early 1800's. The present owner, General Conley, is the third (U.S. Army) General in his family to have lived here. The working farm is the last one situated this close to the surrounding, heavily-suburbanized area.
